

Small Group FAQs

How long do groups last?

Some groups meet for a few months and others for several years. There is no set timeline for how long a group continues to meet. Our goal is that groups help form healthy relationships with others and God.

How many people are in a small group?

The goal is for a group to have around 6 couples or 12 people. Although, some groups will be bigger or smaller. Ideally we want to offer an opportunity for all the people in the small group to be known, which happens best in smaller communities.

How are groups formed?

We form groups based on similarities in age and stage of life. We then launch these groups at Groups Start-Up each fall and winter.

Who leads the group?

We want our leaders to be seasoned followers of Jesus Christ. Leaders do not need a seminary degree or formal training. We desire them to be humble and teachable. We will provide training and resources for leaders throughout the year.

When and where do groups meet?

Small groups meet in homes and other local businesses on the day/time that works best for the group. There are also some on-campus groups that meet at BridgeWay. Groups typically meet weekly or every other week.

How do I join a group?

You can sign up for Group Start-Up online or fill out a sign-up form at BridgeWay. We will connect you with a group!

What do groups study/discuss?

We provide a sermon discussion guide that many groups use. There are also a variety of bible study resources available to small group leaders. Contact the small groups pastor for more information.

Small Group FAQs

How long do groups last?

Some groups meet for a few months and others for several years. There is no set timeline for how long a group continues to meet. Our goal is that groups help form healthy relationships with others and God.

How many people are in a small group?

The goal is for a group to have around 6 couples or 12 people. Although, some groups will be bigger or smaller. Ideally we want to offer an opportunity for all the people in the small group to be known, which happens best in smaller communities.

How are groups formed?

We form groups based on similarities in age and stage of life. We then launch these groups at Groups Start-Up each fall and winter.

Who leads the group?

We want our leaders to be seasoned followers of Jesus Christ. Leaders do not need a seminary degree or formal training. We desire them to be humble and teachable. We will provide training and resources for leaders throughout the year.

When and where do groups meet?

Small groups meet in homes and other local businesses on the day/time that works best for the group. There are also some on-campus groups that meet at BridgeWay. Groups typically meet weekly or every other week.

How do I join a group?

You can sign up for Group Start-Up online or fill out a sign-up form at BridgeWay. We will connect you with a group!

What do groups study/discuss?

We provide a sermon discussion guide that many groups use. There are also a variety of bible study resources available to small group leaders. Contact the small groups pastor for more information.